“The holidays are a very special time to reconnect with family and friends, and while this has been a challenging year on many levels, we believe the program of events that have been created will become a tradition for Houstonians to celebrate annually. As the emphasis on socially responsible gatherings will continue to be our focus, we look forward to celebrating the season with our friends and hotel guests,” said Steven Chou, General Manager.

In addition to the tree lighting event, The Post Oak Hotel encourages attendees to support the Houston Children’s Charity Annual Christmas Program, which distributes toys to more than 20,000 children in the Greater Houston area. From November 26 to December 13, Houstonians are welcome to donate new, unwrapped toys at any of the hotel’s events and help bring some holiday cheer to underserved children and their families.
